TROUBLE AT THE POOR FARM

County Commissioners Put in a Day Trying to Get at the Truth.

Alleges the Doctor is Incompetent, the Nurse Negligent and the Management of the Institution Bad -Denials from Others.

The Board of County Commissioners held an investigation of the county hospital yesterday in accordance with a resolution passed several weeks ago. All of the members were present and the investigation was commenced at 11 a. m. and was not adjourned until 11 p. m., when the board concluded to await the preparation of the stenographic report before deciding upon the from the county physician. The time of the board was taken up until

6 p. m. in listening to the testimony of the matron. Mrs. Fowell, and the witnesses she dining room for the insane woman and an-other for the old women and such of the in-When the members of the board had all assembled they went into executive session and decided upon the lines upon which the investigation would be conducted. It was decided that the board would sum-mon witnesses, one at a time, and would allow no one in the room except the wit-ness under examination and the press representatives. When this had been deided the matron, Mrs. Howell, was summoned and asked to make any statement she saw fit regarding matters which had ome under her observation. Matron Howell said she had been in the institution for six months and had been too many times insulted and abused to have the matter passed on by a partial jury. She demanded that she be allowed an attorney and refused to proceed unless she was al-lowed to be represented by an attorney. Judge Stenberg said it had been understood that no one was to be admitted ex-The matter was discussed between the pard and Mrs. Howell and then the latter cas excused, and the board went into executive session. When the doors were opened Mrs. Howell was informed that it had been decided that no attorneys would allowed, as the purpose of the meeting was to inquire into everything in connec tion with the disagreement existing among the employes of the poor farm. Jenkins then directed Mrs. Howell to state, as far as she could, what grievances or wrongs have been perpetrated, giving only such circumstances as could be substantiated by proofs.

CAUSES OF HER COMPLAINT. Mrs. Howell said there were many causes for the way she had been treated. The first cause was the fact that the mother of Superintendent Wright made it her business to keep watch over everything that transs-pired instead of attending to her own affairs. She also insisted that there was no system about the institution; that employes do as they see fit, nurses neglect their patients and compel demented inmates to give medicine to those too sick to wait on themselves She gave several instances of such neglect, notably the case of Mrs. Foley, who, while dust-box, and broke a rib. She laid there on the floor until daylight. She was not put in the hospital ward, but was left in in the hospital ward, but was left in the ward with the old women and had no care except what they could give. The matron charged that the nurse in the women's ward, Mrs. Miller, neglected her duty and spent her time in the parlor.

and bread and butter tinued Mrs. Howell. "It is said that the epital staff is in charge of this institution, but, as a matter of fact, Dr. Bridges is in charge. Dr. Bridges said to me a few days ago that the county should furnish competent nurses. He ordered all bottles of medicine removed from the rooms of pa-tients after he found that the nurses were not attending to the giving of medicine. He found cases where patients were taking medicines that were poisonous. He asked the patients if they were taking the med-icines themselves, and they said they were, that the nurse had told them to do so. These patients had no clock or other means of knowing the time, and they took the med-icine whenever they thought of it. "May 23 Dr. Gilbert took a girl, who had given birth to a child three days behe subjected her to an examination. I was conducting a couple of women visitors through the building and found this girl hunted for her and finally saw her on the table in the operating room. The doctor demanded to know what business I had as good an officer as could be secured for the position. The nurse, Mrs. Miller, was nounced the doctor for his cruelty in compelling a sick woman to rise from her bed and walk to the operating room a dose of medicine to an inmate, Mrs. Peterson, which nearly killed her. She did was sent to her and she was told to take it. It threw her into convulsions. When the doctor saw the effects of the medicine not intended for her at all, but was for another Mrs. Peterson, but there is no other Mrs. Peterson in this institution.

"There are patients here who have been threatened by the superintendent and nurse.

rom her, but Mr. Wright made him take it There is a Mrs. Ellis up stairs, who is in a dying condition. When she came here she was salivated at another hospital so she could not eat. She asked for a little maited milk as that was the only thing her stomach would retain, but the nurse told her it was too expensive. She asked for chicken broth, but was refused and the woman is literally starving. I went to her room and she wa moaning with pain and asked me to apply hot cloths to her side. I stayed with her until 1 o'clock in the morning. A friend was with her and I went to bed. Soon afterward I heard a knock at my door and found the doctor outside. He demanded to know what I had been doing with Mrs. Ellis. I told him the woman would have been dead if I had not looked after her.

"I have proofs that the norse sent an almost demented girl to administer medicine in cases where one drop too much would make a great difference.

START OF THE TROUBLE "The first trouble I had with the superin tendent was regarding the colored girl. Topsy, who is an idiot. He and i)r. Wilson had placed a straightjacket on the girl be-cause she had torn an old ragged gown which had been placed on her. I took the jacket off and Mr. Wright demanded that I should put it back, but I refused and he did not weak to me for feet less than the

not think it was proper for pregnant women to eat at the same table with the insane, but said the doctor required them all to eat together, At the conclusion of Mrs. Howell's testimony she was directed to bring witnesses as would corroborate what had said or who had any knowledge in line with the investigation. In accordance with these instructions the matron produced a large number of witnesses, who occupied the time of the board until 6 o'clock p. m. MATRON MAKES SOME SERIOUS CHARGES The first of these witnesses was Mrs. Peterson, an intelligent looking woman about 26 years of age. She corroborated what Mrs. Howell had said regarding being given the wrong medicine by Dr. Gilbert, She said she had not asked for any medicine and did not need any, but the nurse told her the doctor said she must take it. She obeyed and the medicine made her very sick. The doctor came to see her and told her to take another dose. She did so and it had the same effect. The doctor then looked at the medicine and said it had not been intended for her at all, but was for another Peterson. The witness said she had been very sick ever since and had not been able to work, and could not sleep unless took some medicine the matron got for her Annie Barnes, a partially demented girl, was called. She couldn't remember how long she had been an inmate of the poor farm. She gave birth to a child May produced to substantiate the statements she had made. The remainder of the time was occupied by hearing what the other employes of the institution had to say for them strong the institution had to say for them selves. While nothing of a startling nature the matron's order. The witness said the was developed, one result of the investiga-tion will be the establishment of a separate poisonous medicine to a Mrs. McGrew and cautioned the witness not to give a drop more than the quantity ordered. It is said she was afraid to give the medicine, but the nurse insisted and she complied with the order. This witness also testified that the doctor had given her medi-cine which nearly killed her and said she had been sick since taking it.

Marie Healey was called and testified to having been neglected by Nurse Miller while confined in bed after giving birth to a child. She also testified regarding alleged mal-practice on the part of Dr. Gilbert, whereby her boy baby had been permanently infured. Mrs. Anna Johnson, an old woman 77 years of age, complained of not being able to eat the food given the inmates. She said she was compelled to help care for some of the other inmates and could not get food the could cat. Mrs. Brisette, formerly employed as a nurse, was called, but had nothing to say except in praise of everybody.

Alice Anderson said she had been an inmate of the poor farm about one year. Had come for treatment for epilepsy. Dr. Bridges asked her if she did not want an operation performed that would cure her. She said she would submit to anything to get well. The doctor told her she would be helped, but did not say how. On December 7, last year, she was taken to the operating room and the operation of ovariotomy was per-formed. She said she had been an invalid ever since. She also complained of neglect on the part of Mrs. Miller, the nurse. COMPLAINS OF THE FOOD

Mrs. Ella Barr testified that she could not eat the food given the other inmates. She was about 55 years old and had been taken to the poor farm from the Presby-terian hospital. She said the doctor told her that Douglas county only furnished food enough to keep soul and body together and she would have to eat what was set before her.

Nellie Lapham, an inmate about 50 years old, with her right arm and leg almost useless from paralysis, was the next witness. She said she did all the work in the dining room in the insane ward. Had asked the doctor for medicine, but he refused to give her any. Had no complaint to make of ill-treatment of herself or other inmates. Bridget Donovan, an old woman, and several other inmates of the old woman's ward were examined, but nothing new nounced hopcless by the doctor, was visited in her room and corroborated what Mrs. Howell had said regarding neglect on the part of the nurse and the doctor.

It had not been touched and she complained that she would not eat what was furnished; said she always took her own medicine; had no clock, but guessed at the time. Returning to the office, the board called Superintendent Wright. He was asked to make any statement be thought fit regard-ing the situation. He said the matron had done excellent work the first four months she was in the institution. He had warned her against interfering with the doctor or with the sick inmates. For the last four months he said she had not been at the institution more than ten nights in a month and did not return until 19 or 11 o'clock at night. He denied that he had even limited the matron in preparing dainties for sick inmates, but, on the contrary, had had given birth to a child three days be-fore, and compelled her to walk down the ward and into the operating room, where had never heard that the doctor had countermanded that order. The matron had visitors made great improvements in the insane this girl ward, but she had encouraged insubordination among the inmates. The superintendent never had any training as a nurse.

The superintendent and the members of the board had a long conversation regarding the general situation and the means for improving it, but nothing special was devel-Dr. Gilbert was the next witness. He went over the several encounters between himself and the matron, testifying that all the trouble arose from a disposition on the part of the matron to interfere with his orders regarding the care of the sick. During his examination it was brought out that he took all orders regarding med-ical treatment from the medical staff to the exclusion of the authority of the com-

Mrs. Miller. She testified that her duties were to care for the sick and feel them under the doctor's directions. She said she always carried out the doctor's orders to the letter. She denied the statements of witnesses regarding her neglecting them or her duties. It was a frequent occurrence, she said, for her to sit up all night with sick women after working all day, but she never missed a day by reason of this. She said she had thirteen patients under her care, and was overworked. Regarding the women testified to by the matron as being covered with vermin, Mrs. Miller said these women had come from a ward in charge of the matron and had not been allowed to stay
